NEWARK THEATRES.

NEWARK THEATRE.
Newark Theatre will have as its attraction next week, starting Monday evening, Joseph M. Weber's production of George V. Hobart's English version of the widely heralded sensational musical comedy, "Alma, Where Do You Live?" The cast to be seen in Newark will be headed by the well-known prima donna, Vera Michelena, and is practically the same as seen during its run of one solid year at Weber's Broadway Theatre, New York. The scenes of the play are laid in Paris, and it is a well-known fact that no American author can write of the French capital and preserve the Gallic atmosphere quite so well as Mr. Hobart. The company includes Robert Dore, William H. Power, Edouard Durand, Ezra Mathews, Walter Leibmann, Daniel Moyles, E. F. Nagel, Bertha Whitney, Madeline Sovel and Shirli Rivers.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE.
For highly entertaining qualities the bill arranged for the presentation at Proctor's Park Place Theatre during the week of March 11, should prove exceptionally attractive to lovers of vaudeville. The position of headliner belongs to Zelda Sears and company, in the comedietta entitled "The Wardrobe Woman," a one-act play. Miss Sears needs no introduction to local theatre-goers. Her work as a character comedienne has long since been stamped with the seal of public approval. As an example of protean facility and mimetic ability Miss Charlotte Parry will contribute a sensational feature to the bill in her enactment of six distinctly different roles that are necessary to the action of "Into the Light," a melodramatic episode of intense dramatic interest, while Billy Gould and Belle Ashlyn have a distinct novelty to offer in the form of a unique singing and patter act.

Others who will contribute to the merit of the bill are Henry Clive and Miss Sturgis Walker, in their well-known burlesque on the art of prestidigitator and necromancy; Paul Seldom's living pictures that have come to be known as "Poems in Marble"; Ernest R. Hall, the well-known author of well-known ballads, such as "Love Me" and "The World is Mine," who will be heard in a number of his newest compositions; Gordon and Kinky, eccentric dancers; Dunlap and Folf, billed as "The Musical Witches"; the Nettie Carroll trio, sensational female gymnasts, and the photo plays.

MINER'S THEATRE.
At Miner's (Newark) Theatre the management will offer for next week Morris Wainstock's "New Century Girls," a popular and up-to-date burlesque organization. The company will present Tom McRae's musical comedy success, "The Two Pickers," with the usual matinee daily. The latest comedy is in two acts and is described as a concoction of mirth, melody and song with thoroughly novel features, musical numbers and other hilarious ingredients. The entire production, it is said, is vastly different from any similar offering shown hereabouts in many years. It is built on lines that stamp it as original and out of the ordinary. The chorus and supporting company is a large and capable one. The special feature will be the original Kilbane-Atell eight pictures, which will be shown at each performance for the first time in Newark. There will be no advance in prices. Tuesday evening story writers' contest; Wednesday, wrestling; Friday, amateur.

GAYETY THEATRE.
The management of the Gayety announces for its attraction next week "The Star and Garter Show," an attraction that will more than make good, for on casting your eye over the personnel that goes to make up this company, we find Elsie Mathews, a most charming singing comedienne, gifted with a most wonderful operatic voice and a personality that is permeated with magnetic vitality. Harry Lester Mason, Newark has not been asking for the quaintest of all German comedians, needs no introduction to our patrons; his annual visit is always looked forward to with unmingled feelings of anticipation of fun and merriment. His presence with any company is the keynote of merriment. Jack Conway, clever delineator of celtic wit; Harry Francis, the inimitable mimic and light comedian; Fannie Vedder, dainty and demure soubrette, who for one season played the title role of "The Time, the Place and the Girl," these are all names to conjure with in musical comedy. March 18, "Belles of the Boulevard."

Of State Wide Benefit.
A statement has been published, said to have been made by "one of Newark's most prominent city officials," in which it is made to appear that Newark is to secure nearly all of the benefit of the abandonment of the Morris canal, in case the bill pending at Trenton becomes a law. According to the same statement, the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, as lessee of the canal, is to make great sacrifices in accepting the terms of the measure.

It is set forth that Newark has far more at stake in the success of the bill than has the Lehigh Valley. The declaration is made that this city is to get everything it wants, including at least 15,000,000 gallons of potable water daily, "practically without cost."

Such a statement certainly stretches the truth to the point of breaking. The pending canal bill is a compromise. The Lehigh Valley is to secure a bargain if the bill passes. Property worth millions will be secured permanently by the company without a shadow on the title. At the same time, the State will secure a fair return for the concessions to the company.

The experts who figured out a year ago just what the passage of the present bill would mean to both the State and the company in terms of money reported that the State would be giving $250,000 to the Lehigh Valley and would be receiving in return $3,610,000. These figures did not take into consideration the probability that, if the canal abandonment bill did not pass, the State would be able to take from the railroad company the entire property by court action, on the ground of misuser and non-user.

Taking the expert's figures at their face value, the present bill, as drafted by the commission, consisting of Governor Wilson, Attorney-General Wilson and former Supreme Court Justice Van Syckel, means $2,000,000 more to the State than the Lehigh Valley offered last year in the bill the company tried to force through the Legislature.

Newark is to secure only its fair proportion of the returns from the canal bargain. This city is not to receive a dollar of the actual cash to be paid over. All of the money is to go to the State.

The water supply that is to be released by the canal company is not to come to Newark, but is to be turned over to the State. That city will, it is true, be a participant in the benefits of State conservation of water that will be made possible by canal abandonment, but this whole section of New Jersey, the most thickly populated in the State, will secure equal benefit.

In other words, the canal bill is no selfish grab for Newark. That city will be able to secure the canal bed from the Passaic river to Paterson, and it will be forced to pay what the property is worth. A similar opportunity will be afforded Jersey City and Paterson to acquire sections of the canal bed.

The abandonment bill is a good one for the whole State, for the State is to receive one-half of the profits from the sale of the Fiddler's Elbow-Paterson strip, all of the canal bed from Paterson to Phillipsburg, and is to profit by the sale to municipalities of the water secured. South Jersey members who vote for the bill can therefore justify themselves with constituents who may claim that their section will receive no benefit from canal abandonment.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

How Mrs. Reed of Peoria, Ill., Escaped The Surgeon's Knife.

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. For two years I suffered. The doctor said I had a tumor and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a well and healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation, and your Sensitive Wash relieved me. I am glad to tell anyone what your medicines have done for me. You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. CHRISTINA REED, 108 Mound St., Peoria, Ill.

Mrs. Lynch Also Avoided Operation.
Jessup, Pa.—"After the birth of my fourth child, I had severe organic inflammation. I would have such terrible pains that it did not seem as though I could stand it. This kept up for three long months, until two doctors decided that an operation was needed."

"Then one of my friends recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking it for two months I was a well woman."—Mrs. JOSEPH A. LYNCH, Jessup, Pa.
Women who suffer from female ills should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one of the most successful remedies the world has ever known, before submitting to a surgical operation.

special favors in the canal abandonment, but has been demanding only its rights. The securing of these rights to the extent provided by the present bill was made possible by the insistence of the special commission that drafted the measure. The changes that have since been made have been comparatively insignificant with one exception, and that exception was foreseen by both Governor Wilson and Mr. Van Syckel. There ought to be no question about the passage of the abandonment bill. What Newark people need to be alert about is the Stickle bill that will give them the right to purchase the canal bed for subway uses when abandonment is an accomplished fact.

TRUSTED THE SUN.

Indian Origin of "the 10 o'clock" Boundary Line.
From a point near the mouth of the Miami river extends northwest through Indiana a boundary known as "the 10 o'clock line." This is one limit of an Indian grant. When the tribes agreed to cede a portion of its territory to the whites a meeting was held for the purpose of marking out the ground. A surveyor was present and had mounted his compass and telescope on a tripod.

The head man of the tribe went up to the instruments, stared steadily at them for awhile, grunted and returned to the circle about the council fire. Not a word was spoken by any one. Soon another Indian arose, walked sedately to the instruments, gravely examined them, grunted and returned to his place by the fire. This example was followed by half a dozen others, after which a short consultation ensued.

The chief then approached the white men. "That what Indian know," he said, drawing a small circle on the ground with a stick, "what what white man know?" drawing a larger circle round the first; "this what nobody know," he added, pointing to what lay without the last circle. "White man know" that, indicating the instruments; "Indian not know it." Indian know sun. He never cheat. "Him all same. Him throw shadow. Indian give white man land one side." After long consultation it was decided that a line drawn in the direction in which the sun would cast a shadow from an agreed point at 10 o'clock should be made the boundary. The white men taking the land on one side and the Indians keeping that on the other.—Exchange.

Trouble.
Never bear more than one kind of trouble at a time. Some people bear three kinds—all they have had, all they have now and all they expect to have.

Africa's Name.
The name Africa was given by the Roman conquerors after the third Punic war, B. C. 146, to the province which they formed to cover the territory of Carthage. It was most probably adopted from the word "Afrigh," the Carthaginian term for a color. This original Africa was limited to extent its borders reached, according to Pliny, from the river Tunes on the west, which divided it from Numidia, to the bottom of the Syrtis Minor on the southeast, though Ptolemy carries it as far east as the bottom of the Great Syrtis, making it include Numidia and Tripolitania. In later days the whole African continent took its name from this part, which in its narrower limits corresponded with the modern regency of Tunis and was called by the Greeks Lybia. Africa, the stormy southwest wind, was so called in Italy because it blew from Africa.
